Sharing what Ten10 Junior Consultants are working on

Happy
New Year!

Hello, I'm Orla! I joined Ten10 last year in April as part of Academy 34 and began my placement at Scottish Courts and Tribunals Services as a software tester in September. SCTS are responsible for the administration of the courts and tribunals of Scotland and their office is based in Edinburgh, I currently commute into the office once a week. I remember feeling so excited about starting my placement but of course a little bit nervous, thankfully I started with another graduate so it was nice to have someone to relate to and once I met my team I felt at ease as they were all so welcoming.

Since joining SCTS I have been a part of one of their biggest projects which is the transformation of the Office of the Public Guardian, where they have developed a replacement case management system to improve customer service and the current processing times for obtaining a Power of Attorney. This project has been ongoing for 2 years and I joined within the last 4 months before its release, so it's been very interesting to be a part of and I have learnt so much and gained a lot of experience already.

My day usually starts with checking my emails and my calendar to see what meetings I have coming up. Each morning our QA team will have a catch up to discuss the tasks for the day and what should be prioritised. Throughout the week we will have a couple of stand-ups with the wider OPG team, and I will also have a few meetings for other projects I am involved in. Daily activities vary from test scripting, raising defects, carrying out manual tests and working on our automation pack. I'm still getting the hang of automation - we use Cucumber and Javascript which are quite new to me so I'm trying to dedicate more time to it but you'll be surprised at how quickly you pick things up!
