

Academy Snapshot

Sharing what Ten10 Junior Consultants are working on

Hi Everyone!

For those of you who don't know me, I'm Steve Osman, Head of Service Delivery here at Ten10. I've been with Ten10 for ten years now, and have watched it grow from a start-up test consultancy to industry experts in Tech Talent and Consulting services across Quality Engineering, Automation, and DevOps.

As Head of Service Delivery, my main focus is to ensure strong delivery governance across our Academy Accounts. This means making sure our Ti10s have consistent access to a Senior Delivery practitioner to discuss ideas or concerns. I also work to promote our services to clients, expanding our opportunities in both existing and new accounts. I am passionate about supporting our Ti10s in their tech careers, so please reach out if you need support or would simply like to introduce yourself!

Outside of work, I'm a married father of two active boys, and I enjoy staying fit through running, cycling, swimming, and going to the gym. I also love to travel, whether it's an extreme day trip to Pisa or a longer trip to places like South East Asia, India, or the Americas.

Steve Osman | Head of Service Delivery